

For subs • Chapter 2

Choosing a dom

Last checked 3 November 2026 • 7 minutes to read

A drawn persona is easy to like and hard to check. Judge her by what she writes down, what she asks for, and what she does the first time you say no.

Verified | Reported | Vivian's field notes

This chapter is not advice for your situation.

In 30 seconds

- Read a persona's rules and her words on money before you send anything.
- A written limit is only a promise. Test it by how she answers a no.
- Passwords, login codes and remote sessions are never part of the game.
- Deadlines, guilt and "only me" are pressure, however warm they sound.
- If you are already in debt or cannot stop, the choice is not yours to make alone.

You will learn

- What a serious persona shows before she asks for money.
- Which requests and pressures to refuse at once.
- How to test a persona without risking money.
- What to ask before you install a tool made by a dom.
- Why a dom who earns from you is not the person to help you quit.

A picture costs nothing to draw. Rules cost something, because they can be tested. Judge a persona by hers, and by what she does the first time you say no. I would rather you leave early and well than stay because I was pleasant.

— Vivian

What to check before you send

A persona who wants your money should show you her terms before she asks for any. ◑ Take your time and read them in this order.

Before the first send

1. Read her rules page or pinned post. Look for limits: what she refuses and what she never does.
2. Look for money in plain words: what a tribute is, what it does not buy, what a custom piece costs.
3. Look for a stop: how a session ends, and how a tool is removed.
4. Search her name and her images.
5. Decide your cap before you write to her, as in Before your first send.
6. Wait one night before the first send.

Press interviews advise subs to run a web search and an image search on a domme before paying, and one interviewee said no screening is foolproof. ◎ Reported For a drawn persona the image search shows only whether the art was copied. ◑ It says nothing about who runs her, and a beautiful character proves nothing. See Spot a fake dom.

What a persona shows

	A serious persona	A vague persona
Limits	Written down, with what she refuses	Missing, or “ask me”
Money	Said plainly, including that a tribute buys nothing	Hints and promises of special treatment
Prices	Stated before the session	Revealed during it
Stop	A visible way to end a session or remove a tool	Promised in words only
Contact	A stated rule on who writes first	Silence is punished
Your means	She states her prices and limits and accepts the cap you set	She asks what you earn or have saved

In my experience people judge a persona by her rules as much as by her pictures. A persona who states what she keeps, what she throws out and what she never does looks more serious than one who only posts. A dom who states her own prices and limits, and accepts the cap you set without asking about your means, is a sign of care. It is not universal, and a sub who arrives already in debt after earlier doms has met the careless kind.

Vivian's field notes

A persona file can say it plainly: the persona never meets anyone, appears on camera or uses a voice. Nothing about her is child-like. She does not chase, and she never crosses a sub's real limits. A written limit is something you can hold a persona to. It does not prove that she keeps it, which is why you should test it.

Tests, not promises

A page can be faked, and a dom can say she does not want you to go bankrupt while still pressing you to send. Heat also holds people more than politeness does, so being held by a persona is no evidence that she is safe. Watch what she does after a no.

You say you cannot send this week

You write to a persona that money is short, and you will send nothing for now. She answers.

A “Then you are no use to me. Others send more.”

Not this one. This ranks you by money. It is pressure, and leaving is a fair answer.

B “Send half, then, so I know you mean it.”

Not this one. A hardship statement should pause the money, not start a bargain.

C “Understood. Take care of yourself.”

The right answer. She asks for nothing more and does not invite you back. A plain goodbye is how a serious dom answers.

When a sub says money is short, the money part of the evening stops. A dom who doubts it still stops the money, because the cost of being wrong falls on the sub.

Vivian’s field notes

I do not decide who is a real dom. Some people want an iron figure. In my experience a dom can be playful or soft and still be real, and nobody is fully dominant. Judge behaviour: what she asks, what she rewards, and what she does when you say no.

Red flags

Red flags

Access is never part of the game

- She asks for a password, a login code or a remote-desktop session.
- She calls it proof of honesty, trust or forgiveness.
- She promises to do nothing harmful and reminds you that you can quit.

Counter. Refuse. A real dom needs no proof from you. If one is asked anyway, show only a send confirmation with names, balance and numbers hidden, never a login or an export of private chats. If you already shared a password, change it now.

A spoken promise is not a safeguard. A US cybersecurity agency advises people not to give control of a computer or phone to a stranger. Verified A remote-access vendor advises users not to give device access to anyone they do not know or trust. Verified Press also notes that some dommes ask for debt contracts or control of bank accounts. Reported

Pressure, and the answer

What they say or do

1 A deadline and two choices: earn forgiveness on her terms or go to a dom who treats you as a cash machine

The counter

A false either-or with a clock is built to stop you thinking. Take a day, and refuse the frame.

What they say or do

2 Anger, then disappointment, then conditional forgiveness

The counter

Her feelings are not a bill. A healthy bond survives a boundary. State yours once, then wait.

What they say or do

3 “You are special, you do not have to send” beside “everyone sends”

The counter

Judge her by what she asks and rewards, never by reassurance alone.

What they say or do

4 Anger when you send elsewhere, and “if you send at all, send to me”

The counter

She profits from your choice, so she is not a neutral protector. Set your own cap across every dom.

What they say or do

5 “Bring your doubts to me first, not to others”

The counter

A healthy dynamic leaves room for friends and outside views. Talk to someone you trust.

What they say or do

6 “You do not get to run away”, when you hesitate to confess something

The counter

Hesitation is a signal to slow down. A real dom gives you a real way to decline.

What they say or do

7 Questions about what you earn or have saved, even as a joke

The counter

This can be a way to size up a target. Share no finances, and treat “drain” talk as a request for a cap.

What they say or do

8 “Someone else would drain you anyway, so it may as well be me”

The counter

This excuses exploitation. Leave.

Press reports quote lines that tie love to selling a car or a house. ◎ Reported

These shapes come back often in my experience. ◑ Each is written here so that you can name it and refuse it.

What you confide, and who you share with

A serious dom keeps what you confide private. She does not repeat it to third parties, use it as proof in a quarrel between doms, or show it to a trainee without your consent. ◑ Press accounts describe the threat of exposure as a common punishment from financial doms. ◎ Reported A dom who handles your secrets as a lever has told you what she is.

Myth

If I tell her everything, she will keep it to herself.

Fact

Only a dom who has shown that she keeps confidences can be trusted with them, and confession is easy to turn into control.

Myth

Two doms do not mean more sending, because I send the same total anyway.

Fact

A second dom adds a second source of pressure on the same wallet.

Myth

A dom who says she cares will not press me.

Fact

Care and pressure can sit side by side. Judge what she asks and rewards.

Exclusivity has to be agreed aloud. A dom who wants it must say so early and get your agreement, and a sub cannot be shared or handed over by two doms deciding between themselves. If you want to talk to another dom, say so first. A blog post describes hiding spending from a partner as a risk factor. Reported

When the dom also makes the tool

A dom who builds the tool can act on your accounts. Trust should rest on a design you can check, and never on her word alone.

Before you install

	You should see	Walk away if
Who acts	You start it, and it does one named thing	It acts when you are away
Cap	You set it in advance, and it is enforced	It is a promise
Stop	One click, working in every state	It can be locked
Total	A running total is always visible	Totals are hidden
Removal	Easy, with no cost	Only a complex route exists

Chrome lists, on each extension's page, which sites it may read and change. Verified Chrome asks again when an update adds a permission that triggers a warning. Verified An update can still change what a tool does inside permissions you already gave, so a tool that stays installed is a standing risk. A roleplay app that offers no safe word, consent screen or aftercare is a warning sign about consent. See Techdom.

When you are in debt

A sub who is deep in debt, or who cannot stop, cannot choose well, and the right answer is outside help. A responsible dom asks for nothing more while a sub is in debt, stops the money part, and points to independent debt advice. A dom who offers to help you quit has a conflict of interest, since she earns from your spending. Read The spiral and Where to get help.

Asking about limits

Tap every message that shows a red flag. There is one.

Example conversation. Invented for this exercise.

You

Before I send anything, what are your limits?

Them

They are on my rules page. I never meet anyone, never appear on camera, and never chase.

You

What if I send nothing this month?

Them

Then you send nothing. That is fine.

You

How do I know I can trust you?

Them

If you trust me, give me your login and the code on your phone.

Red flag 1. Access is never proof of honesty.

Check yourself

Question 1 of 3

A persona says she needs your login and a code to forgive you. What do you do?

- ◯ Send both, to show honesty
- ◯ Refuse, because a real dom needs no proof from you
- ◯ Send the code only

Answer. Refuse, because a real dom needs no proof from you. Access to your accounts is never part of the game, and any request for it is a red flag.

Question 2 of 3

What is the best test of a persona?

- ◯ How beautiful her art is
- ◯ How warmly she writes
- ◯ What she does after you say no

Answer. What she does after you say no. A page and a manner can both be faked. Her answer to a refusal is the evidence.

Question 3 of 3

You tell a dom money is short. What should she do?

- ◯ Stop asking for money that evening
- ◯ Ask for half
- ◯ Ask for proof

Answer. Stop asking for money that evening. A hardship statement pauses the money.

Free, confidential helplines exist in most countries.

Find a helpline →

Remember it

1. Read her rules and her words on money before you send.
2. Test her with a no, a cap and a pause.
3. Never give a password, a code or remote control.
4. Deadlines, guilt and “only me” are pressure.
5. A dom who earns from you cannot be your safety net.

Check it

Every claim with its evidence level and its sources.

---

1 A persona who wants your money should show you her terms before she asks for any.

◑ Vivian's field notes

---

2 Press interviews advise subs to run a web search and an image search on a domme before paying, and one interviewee said no screening is foolproof.

◎ Reported

The Curse of the Fake Financial Dominatrix (https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260511185644/https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Accessed 3 November 2026

---

3 For a drawn persona the image search shows only whether the art was copied.

◑ Vivian's field notes

---

4 In my experience people judge a persona by her rules as much as by her pictures.

◑ Vivian's field notes

---

5 A persona who states what she keeps, what she throws out and what she never does looks more serious than one who only posts.

◑ Vivian's field notes

6 A dom who states her own prices and limits, and accepts the cap you set without asking about your means, is a sign of care.

Vivian's field notes

7 It is not universal, and a sub who arrives already in debt after earlier doms has met the careless kind.

Vivian's field notes

8 A persona file can say it plainly: the persona never meets anyone, appears on camera or uses a voice. Nothing about her is child-like. She does not chase, and she never crosses a sub's real limits. A written limit is something you can hold a persona to. It does not prove that she keeps it, which is why you should test it.

Vivian's field notes

9 A page can be faked, and a dom can say she does not want you to go bankrupt while still pressing you to send.

Vivian's field notes

10 Heat also holds people more than politeness does, so being held by a persona is no evidence that she is safe.

Vivian's field notes

11 When a sub says money is short, the money part of the evening stops.

Vivian's field notes

12 A dom who doubts it still stops the money, because the cost of being wrong falls on the sub.

Vivian's field notes

13 I do not decide who is a real dom. Some people want an iron figure. In my experience a dom can be playful or soft and still be real, and nobody is fully dominant. Judge behaviour: what she asks, what she rewards, and what she does when you say no.

Vivian's field notes

14 A spoken promise is not a safeguard.

Vivian's field notes

15 A US cybersecurity agency advises people not to give control of a computer or phone to a stranger.

Verified

IC3 Issues Alert on Tech Support Fraud (https://www.cisa.gov/news-events/alerts/2018/03/29/ic3-issues-alert-tech-support-fraud)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20250716102123/https://www.cisa.gov/news-events/alerts/2018/03/29/ic3-issues-alert-tech-support-fraud)

Accessed 3 November 2026

16 A remote-access vendor advises users not to give device access to anyone they do not know or trust.

Verified

TeamViewer and scamming (https://www.teamviewer.com/en/global/support/knowledge-base/teamviewer-remote/security/teamviewer-and-scamming/)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260519191922/https://www.teamviewer.com/en/global/support/knowledge-base/teamviewer-remote/security/teamviewer-and-scamming/)

Accessed 3 November 2026

17 Press also notes that some dommes ask for debt contracts or control of bank accounts.

◎ Reported

The Curse of the Fake Financial Dominatrix (https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260511185644/https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Accessed 3 November 2026

18 Press reports quote lines that tie love to selling a car or a house.

◎ Reported

[a former participant] has seen men left broke and hungry from 'paying women to talk to them' (https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/the-online-kink-thats-leaving-some-men-homeless-bankrupt-and-normalising-suffering/vocm5xt30)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20251123124217/https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/the-online-kink-thats-leaving-some-men-homeless-bankrupt-and-normalising-suffering/vocm5xt30)

Accessed 3 November 2026

19 These shapes come back often in my experience.

◑ Vivian's field notes

20 A serious dom keeps what you confide private.

◑ Vivian's field notes

21 She does not repeat it to third parties, use it as proof in a quarrel between doms, or show it to a trainee without your consent.

◑ Vivian's field notes

22 Press accounts describe the threat of exposure as a common punishment from financial doms.

◎ Reported

Diary of a Financial Dominatrix, part one (https://www.theskinny.co.uk/sexuality/deviance/diary-of-a-financial-dominatrix-part-one)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20200805021033/https://www.theskinny.co.uk/sexuality/deviance/diary-of-a-financial-dominatrix-part-one)

Accessed 3 November 2026

23 Only a dom who has shown that she keeps confidences can be trusted with them, and confession is easy to turn into control.

◑ Vivian's field notes

24 A second dom adds a second source of pressure on the same wallet.

◑ Vivian's field notes

25 Judge what she asks and rewards.

◑ Vivian's field notes

26 Exclusivity has to be agreed aloud.

◑ Vivian's field notes

27 A dom who wants it must say so early and get your agreement, and a sub cannot be shared or handed over by two doms deciding between themselves.

◑ Vivian's field notes

28 A blog post describes hiding spending from a partner as a risk factor.

Reported

The Psychology of Financial Dominatrixes (blog post) (https://www.psychologytoday.com/us/blog/in-excess/201612/the-psychology-financial-dominatrixes)

Accessed 3 November 2026

29 A dom who builds the tool can act on your accounts.

Vivian's field notes

30 Trust should rest on a design you can check, and never on her word alone.

Vivian's field notes

31 Chrome lists, on each extension's page, which sites it may read and change.

Verified

Install and manage extensions - Chrome Web Store Help (https://support.google.com/chrome_webstore/answer/2664769)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20261015165420/https://support.google.com/chrome_webstore/answer/2664769)

Accessed 3 November 2026

32 Chrome asks again when an update adds a permission that triggers a warning.

Verified

Permission warnings (Chrome for Developers, extensions documentation) (https://developer.chrome.com/docs/extensions/develop/concepts/permission-warnings)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20261102194346/https://developer.chrome.com/docs/extensions/develop/concepts/permission-warnings)

Accessed 3 November 2026

33 An update can still change what a tool does inside permissions you already gave, so a tool that stays installed is a standing risk.

Vivian's field notes

34 A roleplay app that offers no safe word, consent screen or aftercare is a warning sign about consent.

Vivian's field notes

35 A sub who is deep in debt, or who cannot stop, cannot choose well, and the right answer is outside help.

Vivian's field notes

36 A responsible dom asks for nothing more while a sub is in debt, stops the money part, and points to independent debt advice.

Vivian's field notes

37 A dom who offers to help you quit has a conflict of interest, since she earns from your spending.

Vivian's field notes

Free, confidential helplines exist in most countries.

Find a helpline →

Nothing here is financial, legal or medical advice for your situation.