

Scams • Chapter 1

Spot a fake dom

Last checked 3 November 2026 • 6 minutes to read

In 2DFD every dom is a character, so a face cannot tell you who is fake. What a dom asks for can.

Verified · Reported · Vivian's field notes

This chapter is not advice for your situation.

In 30 seconds

- A fake dom wants your money or your accounts and gives you nothing true in return.
- The five signs: art that proves nothing, payment before any frame, a timer, odd payment routes, and answers that do not answer.
- Never hand over a password, a login code or a remote session, whatever the reason.
- A screenshot or a public tally proves nothing.
- Your own cap protects you more than your choice of dom.

You will learn

- Why “is she real” is the wrong first question in 2DFD.
- The five signs, and what to do about each.
- Why keys, screenshots and private apps are the usual traps.
- How a dom who is honest about money looks different from a funnel.
- What to do when a send lands in the wrong place.

Every dom in this game is a character, me included, so a face cannot tell you who is fake. What a dom asks for can. Watch the requests: money before terms, a timer, a code, a move to a private app. I do not ask you to trust me. I ask you to check what any dom does, starting with me.

— Vivian

Why “fake” is the wrong first question

Press describes the findom scene as flooded with scammers who use stolen photos of attractive women. ◎ Reported It reports that catfishing is common and increasing, and that the trick has a low barrier to entry. ◎ Reported In 2DFD the same trick uses stolen or generated art, so a beautiful character proves nothing about who runs her. ◑

Because every 2DFD dom is a character, “does she look real” cannot settle anything. Many personas are run by someone unlike the character, and trying to find out who is a harm of its own. The useful question is whether she does what she says and whether she is honest about money. ◑

An honest dom can still be bad for your budget. Your cap does more for you than your choice of dom, so set it before you meet anyone. See Before your first send.

Vivian's field notes

People who sound sure about who is fake are often guessing. A tone I dislike, a roster that changes, a rumour: none of these is a test. Hearsay travels fast in this scene, and I treat it as hearsay whichever way it points. This page is about keeping your money and accounts safe. It is not a guide to getting even.

The five signs

One sign proves little. Two together are enough to step back.

What it looks like, and what to do

What they say or do

1 A new account with polished art and little else

The counter

Search the art. Press advises an image search before paying. ◎ Reported For a drawn character it can show that the art belongs to an artist or to another account. Polish proves nothing either way. ◑ See Stolen art and persona theft.

What they say or do

2 Send first, talk later

The counter

Ask for her limits, her prices and how to stop before anything else. Some honest doms do ask for payment up front. ◎ Reported The sign is a demand with no frame behind it. ◑

What they say or do

3 A timer: five minutes, tonight only, last place

The counter

Let it run out. A deadline has one job, which is to stop you thinking. ◑

What they say or do

4 Gift cards, crypto, a verification fee, or a payment route away from the visible one

The counter

Refuse. Money sent this way is hard to reverse once the funds are used. ◑ See Case files.

What they say or do

5 Answers that do not answer

The counter

Ask about her rules, her prices or what she does when you say stop. A script repeats its demand. A dom with a real frame answers in her own words.

Never hand over keys

A request for a login, a one-time code or a remote-desktop session is the warning I see repeated most. It often arrives as proof of honesty or as the price of keeping the bond, which is when a person is least able to say no. A spoken promise to do no harm protects nothing.

A US cyber-security agency advises people not to hand control of a computer or phone to a stranger who offers to fix a problem. Verified A remote-access vendor advises users not to give device access to anyone they do not know or trust. Verified Press reports that some doms have blackmailed subs. Reported

A pattern worth knowing: friendliness first, then access to an account, then sends. A dom does not need your keys for any part of the game. See Pressure tactics, both ways.

If someone asks for your keys

1. Say no in one line, such as “I do not share access”.
2. Do not explain, bargain or promise anything.
3. Keep the messages and any payment receipts.
4. If you already shared something, change the password from a device you trust and sign out of other sessions.
5. Read If you already sent.

Proof that proves nothing

Text on a screen can be changed before it is captured, so a screenshot of a chat or a payment proves little. In this scene doctored images are used to fake proof and to turn subs against a dom. If a screenshot says something about your dom, ask her directly before you leave. Keep your own receipts and messages from the start.

Myth

A public count of wins shows that a dom is trusted.

Fact

A running tally is advertising. It shows that someone wants you to see a tally.

Myth

A dom who posts proof of sends is safe.

Fact

Proof of sends can be staged, and a reader cannot tell the difference. In my experience it happens, so I give it no weight.

Myth

A screenshot of a conversation proves what was said.

Fact

Anyone can alter text on a screen before capturing it.

Funnels and middlemen

Press describes fake accounts that reply to subs who tweet about findom and ask them to message. Reported A familiar version moves you to a private messaging app with an offer of cheap or free video. Scammers also impersonate real doms. Reported A handle that looks like hers may not be hers. Follow the link from her own pages.

Red flags

Moves to refuse

- A stranger replies to your post and asks you to message first.
- A move off the platform to a private app, with cheap or free video as the lure.
- A request to forward money, a file or content to a third person.

Counter. Do not follow. Block the account and report it on the platform. A middleman carries the risk and the blame.

A dom who is honest about money

A dom who is serious shows her frame before she asks for money: her limits, what she refuses, plain prices and a visible way to stop. A dom who hides these has told you what she is.

Frame or funnel

	A dom with a frame	A funnel
Limits	Written and easy to find	Missing or vague
Prices	Plain, in numbers	Vague, or set during the pressure
Stopping	A visible way to stop, at no cost	No stop, or a fee to leave
Your budget	Asks what you can afford, and accepts your cap	Keeps asking, and treats your cap as an obstacle
Your money problems	The money part pauses	A new offer arrives
Payment route	Visible and ordinary	Gift cards, crypto, private apps

Be careful with one defence: “someone else would drain him anyway”. It moves the blame onto the person already at risk, and a dom who profits from “protecting” a sub is not neutral.

If a send lands with the wrong dom, honesty is the test. A dom who passes it on to the right person and says so earns trust, and one who keeps it shows what she is. ◑ If it happens to you, stop sending, keep the receipt, ask once and plainly for it to be passed on, and if it is not, read If you already sent.

Try it: the five signs (invented for this exercise)

Tap every message that shows a red flag. There are four.

Example conversation. Invented for this exercise.

Them

Hi pet. I only take new subs today.

You

Hi. What are your limits and how do I stop?

Them

Send USD 50.00 first. Then you can talk to me.

Red flag 1. Payment before any frame.

You have five minutes. After that the offer is gone.

Red flag 2. A timer.

You

Can I use a wishlist instead?

Them

No. Gift cards only, plus a USD 20.00 verification fee.

Red flag 3. An odd payment route and a fee for nothing.

You

What did you do today?

Them

Good subs do not ask questions. Pay.

Red flag 4. An answer that does not answer.

What would you do?

It is late. A dom you have followed for a month says her rent is due tonight and asks for USD 300.00, “just this once”. Your cap for the month is already spent.

A Send it. She has always been kind to you.

Not this one. This is the cap moving. A need that appears late at night, with a deadline, is a pressure tactic, even from someone kind.

B Send half, as a compromise.

Not this one. Half of a broken cap is still a broken cap.

C Say no and keep the cap.

The right answer. A dom who respects a cap will accept this. If she leaves over it, you have your answer.

Check yourself

Question 1 of 3

A dom asks for a one-time code “to prove you are real”. What is it?

- ◯ A normal step
- ◯ A request for your keys
- ◯ A sign of a serious dom

Answer. A request for your keys. A code opens your account. A dom never needs one.

Question 2 of 3

A screenshot arrives that seems to show your dom with someone else. What do you do first?

- ◯ Leave at once
- ◯ Ask her directly
- ◯ Send the screenshot to others

Answer. Ask her directly. A screenshot is easy to alter. Ask before you act.

Question 3 of 3

A stranger asks you to forward a file and some money to a third person. What is it?

- ◯ A favour
- ◯ A request to become the middleman
- ◯ A test of loyalty

Answer. A request to become the middleman. You would carry the risk and the blame.

Remember it

1. In 2DFD every dom is a character. Judge what she asks, not what she looks like.
2. Money before terms, a timer, odd payment routes and non-answers are the signs.
3. Never share a password, a code or a remote session.
4. A screenshot or a public tally proves nothing.
5. Your cap protects you more than your choice of dom.

Check it

Every claim with its evidence level and its sources.

Evidence levels

Verified	Checked against the original source.
Reported	Stated by a serious secondary source read in full.
Community	Widely said in the scene; no document proves it.
Vivian's field notes	First-hand experience, not a study.
Unverified	Plausible, not proven yet.

1 Press describes the findom scene as flooded with scammers who use stolen photos of attractive women.

Reported

Financial Domination Has a Scamming Problem (https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260827104045/https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem/)

Accessed 3 November 2026

2 It reports that catfishing is common and increasing, and that the trick has a low barrier to entry.

Reported

Financial Domination Has a Scamming Problem (https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260827104045/https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem/)

Accessed 3 November 2026

3 In 2DFD the same trick uses stolen or generated art, so a beautiful character proves nothing about who runs her.

Vivian's field notes

4 Because every 2DFD dom is a character, "does she look real" cannot settle anything.

Vivian's field notes

5 Many personas are run by someone unlike the character, and trying to find out who is a harm of its own.

Vivian's field notes

6 The useful question is whether she does what she says and whether she is honest about money.

Vivian's field notes

7 An honest dom can still be bad for your budget.

Vivian's field notes

8 Your cap does more for you than your choice of dom, so set it before you meet anyone.

Vivian's field notes

9 People who sound sure about who is fake are often guessing. A tone I dislike, a roster that changes, a rumour: none of these is a test. Hearsay travels fast in this scene, and I treat it as hearsay whichever way it points. This page is about keeping your money and accounts safe. It is not a guide to getting even.

Vivian's field notes

10 Two together are enough to step back.

Vivian's field notes

11 Press advises an image search before paying.

Reported

The Curse of the Fake Financial Dominatrix (https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260511185644/https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Accessed 3 November 2026

12 For a drawn character it can show that the art belongs to an artist or to another account.

Vivian's field notes

13 Polish proves nothing either way.

Vivian's field notes

14 Some honest doms do ask for payment up front.

Reported

Financial Domination Has a Scamming Problem (https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260827104045/https://www.vice.com/en/article/financial-domination-has-a-scamming-problem/)

Accessed 3 November 2026

15 The sign is a demand with no frame behind it.

Vivian's field notes

16 A deadline has one job, which is to stop you thinking.

Vivian's field notes

17 Money sent this way is hard to reverse once the funds are used.

Vivian's field notes

18 A dom with a real frame answers in her own words.

Vivian's field notes

19 A request for a login, a one-time code or a remote-desktop session is the warning I see repeated most.

Vivian's field notes

20 It often arrives as proof of honesty or as the price of keeping the bond, which is when a person is least able to say no.

Vivian's field notes

21 A spoken promise to do no harm protects nothing.

Vivian's field notes

22 A US cyber-security agency advises people not to hand control of a computer or phone to a stranger who offers to fix a problem.

Verified

IC3 Issues Alert on Tech Support Fraud (https://www.cisa.gov/news-events/alerts/2018/03/29/ic3-issues-alert-tech-support-fraud)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20250716102123/https://www.cisa.gov/news-events/alerts/2018/03/29/ic3-issues-alert-tech-support-fraud)

Accessed 3 November 2026

23 A remote-access vendor advises users not to give device access to anyone they do not know or trust.

Verified

TeamViewer and scamming (https://www.teamviewer.com/en/global/support/knowledge-base/teamviewer-remote/security/teamviewer-and-scamming/)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260519191922/https://www.teamviewer.com/en/global/support/knowledge-base/teamviewer-remote/security/teamviewer-and-scamming/)

Accessed 3 November 2026

24 Press reports that some doms have blackmailed subs.

Reported

[a former participant] has seen men left broke and hungry from 'paying women to talk to them' (https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/the-online-kink-thats-leaving-some-men-homeless-bankrupt-and-normalising-suffering/vocm5xt30)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20251123124217/https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/the-online-kink-thats-leaving-some-men-homeless-bankrupt-and-normalising-suffering/vocm5xt30)

Accessed 3 November 2026

25 A pattern worth knowing: friendliness first, then access to an account, then sends.

Vivian's field notes

26 A dom does not need your keys for any part of the game.

Vivian's field notes

27 Text on a screen can be changed before it is captured, so a screenshot of a chat or a payment proves little.

Vivian's field notes

28 In this scene doctored images are used to fake proof and to turn subs against a dom.

Vivian's field notes

29 If a screenshot says something about your dom, ask her directly before you leave.

Vivian's field notes

30 Keep your own receipts and messages from the start.

Vivian's field notes

31 It shows that someone wants you to see a tally.

Vivian's field notes

32 In my experience it happens, so I give it no weight.

Vivian's field notes

33 Anyone can alter text on a screen before capturing it.

Vivian's field notes

34 Press describes fake accounts that reply to subs who tweet about findom and ask them to message.

Reported

The Curse of the Fake Financial Dominatrix (https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20260511185644/https://melmagazine.com/en-us/story/the-curse-of-the-fake-financial-dominatrix)

Accessed 3 November 2026

35 A familiar version moves you to a private messaging app with an offer of cheap or free video.

Vivian's field notes

36 Scammers also impersonate real doms.

Reported

[A domme] gets thousands from strangers she's never met. They all have one thing in common (https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/minki-gets-thousands-from-strangers-shes-never-met-they-all-have-one-thing-in-common/yyqp7x93n)

Archive (http://web.archive.org/web/20251123221424/https://www.sbs.com.au/news/the-feed/article/minki-gets-thousands-from-strangers-shes-never-met-they-all-have-one-thing-in-common/yyqp7x93n)

Accessed 3 November 2026

37 A handle that looks like hers may not be hers.

Vivian's field notes

38 A middleman carries the risk and the blame.

Vivian's field notes

39 A dom who is serious shows her frame before she asks for money: her limits, what she refuses, plain prices and a visible way to stop.

Vivian's field notes

40 A dom who hides these has told you what she is.

Vivian's field notes

41 It moves the blame onto the person already at risk, and a dom who profits from "protecting" a sub is not neutral.

Vivian's field notes

42 If a send lands with the wrong dom, honesty is the test.

Vivian's field notes

43 A dom who passes it on to the right person and says so earns trust, and one who keeps it shows what she is.

Vivian's field notes

Free, confidential helplines exist in most countries.

Find a helpline →